Maoris cooking at hot spring
ROTORUA, N.Z.

LL8498

WIDE WIDE WORLD

Raphael Tuck & Sons' "OILETTE" Postcard 7890

ROTORUA, NEW ZEALAND. Series I

ART PUBLISHERS TO THEIR MAJESTIES THE KING & QUEEN.

TUCK'S POST CARD

CARTE POSTALE

POSTKARTE

By Appointment.

A Maori Kitchen, Rotorua, N Z. The Maoris belong to the Polynesian race, and tradition has it that they came into New Zealand about thirty generations ago from Hawaiki, a small island in the Pacific. They number about 40,000 and inhabit both Islands of New Zealand. The picture depicts the way they utilise the hot springs for cooking purposes.

(FOR ADDRESS ONLY.)

Printed in England

CPA12.9